To My Patients:

The Covid-19 pandemic has impacted every single one of us on the entire planet. Never before has any single event so drastically changed the culture of the entire human race, certainly not since the 1918 pandemic. Although many of the changes that we now face will revert back to old norms given time, some will probably not. Unfortunately I am caught in a situation where by the time we return to "normal" I would have wanted to retire. As a result I have made the difficult decision to stop seeing patients.

Fortunately, my friend and colleague Dr. Clifford Salinger and his associate Dr. Helayna Brown have agreed to take over the care of my patients. They are both extremely accomplished and compassionate ophthalmologists. I have been referring difficult corneal cases to Dr. Salinger for more than 20 years. He did his cornea fellowship at Pacific Presbyterian Medical Center in San Francisco and also spent a year with Orbis International, a flying eye hospital that brings modern techniques and training to doctors all over the world. He has remained active with Orbis over the years. He has been honored by the Palm Beach Medical Society with the Heroes in Medicine Award for his International volunteer work. He serves as the education coordinator for the Florida Society of Ophthalmology annual meeting for 18 years, and has received multiples awards, including the John R. Brayton Leadership Award and the James Clower Community Service Award.

Dr. Brown has worked in my office on multiple occasions to help out since the pandemic seeing emergencies. She did her Corneal Fellowship with the Corneal Associates of New Jersey. She received a number of awards and leadership positions during her training. She is a competent, caring and well trained physician.

At least for the foreseeable future I will continue to do cataract surgery on those of you who request it, once I feel it is safe for you and me to return to the surgery center. I would have preferred to retire in my own way on my own terms, but if this pandemic has taught us nothing else, it has made us realize that "man makes plans and God laughs."

Sincerely,

Paul Rosenblum, MD

We hope this letter finds you well. We have been trying our best to reach out to all of Dr. Rosenblum's patients that have upcoming appointments. If you have any questions please don't hesitate to give us a call, we are all trying to get through this together.

Any previous appointments and all future appointments at the 840 US Hwy 1 location have been cancelled and you will need to reschedule at our new location at: 11020 RCA Center Drive, Suite 2001 Palm Beach Gardens 33410. Please make note of the new telephone number: 561-624-7878. Most of you may recognize this address as the satellite office Dr. Rosenblum used a couple years back to see patients. The 840 US Highway 1 office in North Palm Beach has been closed. We are very sorry for any inconvenience this may have on your schedule.

We have a few new options when it comes to scheduling; there are two satellite locations for our patients that are north of this area. We utilize an office in Stuart and one in Port St. Lucie and we are more than happy to see you there if it is more convenient for you.

All patient records are now at the new location so don't worry when you reschedule your appointments, the doctors will have all of your past history.

For all of you who are tech savvy, the new office has a website where you can get all of this new information, directions, backgrounds on the doctors, and even print the new patient paperwork. The website is: www.VIPLaserEyeCenter.com.

We look forward to welcoming you to V.I.P. Laser Eye Center and serving all your ocular health needs, and exceeding your expectations.
