Healthare PROFESSIONALS

Dr. Gin specializes in non-invasive cosmetic procedures that offer minimal downtime and complement her patients' active lifestyles. She uses a unique combination of Botox, fillers, lasers, and skin tightening treatments, and believes that through this combination, "The face can easily appear five to ten years younger, and the need for invasive surgery can be postponed."

Dr. Gin was raised in New York City, and graduated Magna Cum Laude from the Ivy League University of Pennsylvania. She then moved to Los Angeles, where she received her medical degree from the University of Southern California School of Medicine, and completed a medical internship at UCLA Medical Center. She completed her dermatology residency at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center, where she performed several clinical studies during the early developmental stages of dermatological lasers.

As a board-certified dermatologist and dermatologic surgeon serving the South Bay since 1999, Dr. Iris Gin has long been committed to helping her patients maintain healthy and beautiful skin. She and the staff at Kalia Dermatology and Laser Center also understand that you want to look your very best, and they are dedicated to helping you reach that goal.
