Lasting, Natural Beauty

Lasting natural beauty, radiance, and feeling more youthful are topics discussed openly by millions of men and women seeking real solutions to aging. This is a multi-billion dollar industry that will continue to grow in the United States and globally to meet the demands from aging consumers wanting to slow or stop the effects of time.

People are becoming more aware and far more educated in the process of selecting products. With information readily available for anyone doing the research, consumers are more select and informed on the benefits of ingredients and formulas. More natural products are desired, backed by science, to produce real results.

NeoGenesis Helps the Skin Rejuvenate

NeoGenesis products help the skin rejuvenate by supplying the nutrients the skin produces in abundance when we are young. The nutrients are packaged in natural exosomes that safely deliver them where they are needed the most. NeoGenesis skin care products deliver beautiful results for all skin types when used alone and complement other skin care lines when combined.

NeoGenesis products are beneficial and safe for a wide variety of skin concerns such as aging, Rosacea, oily, acneic and irritated skin. The products are simple to use and elegantly formulated to give the skin what it needs to restore balance and radiance.

Over 18 million Cosmetic Procedures in 2019

According to the annual plastic surgery procedural statistics, there were 18.9 million cosmetic procedures performed in the United States in 2019. Of these, 1.8 million were cosmetic surgical procedures and 16.3 million were minimally-invasive cosmetic procedures.

While plastic surgery may improve the appearance of clients who choose to go under the knife, it does nothing to improve the quality of the skin. Skin needs must be addressed separately from cosmetic procedures to achieve the best possible outcome.

NeoGenesis Products Pre and Post Surgery

The health of your skin is never more crucial than the weeks before and immediately following surgery. Carefully planned pre and post-op skin care treatment yields the most positive surgical results. Patient satisfaction with surgical procedures increase when healing is accelerated, scarring is minimal, and they encounter less irritation.

Four weeks before surgery is the best time to begin using products designed to get the skin in a healthy, optimal state. This time is used to infuse the skin with nutrients and hydration to be at its best for the surgery. Proper pre-surgery skin care helps the skin heal faster with less swelling and bruising at the surgery site.
