

Sermorelin & IPA : The Powerful Synergy Peptides

There is a new Sermorelin with IPA, that is well known for being the most powerful among the IPA peptides. Both stimulate synergistically the patient's own pituitary gland by binding to specific receptors that increase production and secretion of endogenous Human Growth Hormone (HGH). Sermorelin is an analogue growth hormone releasing hormone (GHRH) which is a natural hormone peptide composed of 29 amino acids. IPA is a Growth Hormone Releasing Peptides that also acts as an appetite suppressant allowing for increased weight loss: IPA reduces fat in the belly via a process known as lipolysis.

They are best prescribed 30 minutes before or after breakfast and at bedtime to maximize the body's natural cycle of growth hormone production during REM sleep. They are customizable in both injectable and sublingual forms to meet your specific needs. Ask Dr. Jessica Cho for more details.
