Hudson Valley Bone and Joint Surgeons treat every patient like a pro. Doctors provide state-of-the-art treatment of sports injuries, shoulder and rotator cuff disorders, the performance of total joint replacements, and comprehensive care of foot and ankle problems and disorders of the hands, wrists, and elbows. Dr. Scott Maddalo, who joined in August 2019, brings Pain Management to the practice. The physicians offer Concierge service to all patients and deliver the same personal attention granted to professional athletes, musicians, dancers, and actors.

George Burak, MD, co-founder of the Practice and a surgeon for 48 years, served as Former Chief of Surgery at Phelps and a former member Board of Council to American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons. He currently serves as Fellow American College of Surgeons and specializes in general orthopedics. He continues to assist his partners in the operating room.

Jay Robert Seebacher, MD, who replaced thousands of hips and knees, now devotes his practice to non-operative treatments of arthritic knees. His unique approach focuses on long-term reduction in pain and stiffness, and restoring strength, flexibility, and vigor. He aims to put surgery on hold. Dr. Seebacher frequently collaborates with other specialists for overlapping sources and causes of pain stemming from the hip, lower back, and osteoporosis. He fuses various injection methods and materials with medications and therapeutic exercising.

Samuel A. Hoisington, MD, Medical Director of the Phelps Hospital Northwell Wound Healing Institute, specializes in treating Upper and Lower Extremity Fractures and Foot and Ankle surgery. Adept at managing both simple and complex fractures using minimally invasive techniques, he specializes in foot and ankle reconstruction, ankle arthroscopy, tendon and ligament repair and reconstruction, and sports injuries.

Corey Burak, MD, a pioneer in anterior approach total hip replacements, has performed more than 2,800 total hip surgeries, as well as minimally invasive knee replacements, computer and image guided surgeries, partial knee replacement, and revision of total joint replacements.

Jason Hochfelder, MD, specializes in all aspects of hip and knee surgery. He specializes in rapid recovery and minimally invasive partial and total knee replacements, and the minimally invasive image-guided anterior approach to hip replacements and revisions of failed and painful joint replacements. Dr. Hochfelder remains abreast on technology and medical advances. Before recommending surgery, he tailors treatments to each individual by exploring all aspects of non-operative management, including injections.
