Let’s Get Your Patients Back In The Game.

At Maryland Orthopedic Specialists we have long specialized in sports medicine, an experience that allows us to provide great care to anyone needing skilled orthopedic medicine and rehabilitation. Our objective is always to get everyone back into the game, whether that “game” is competition at the highest athletic level, a youth sports team, weekend recreation, or simply a return to normal daily activities.

Top Expertise, Personalized Care

Our patients repeatedly tell us that they appreciate the time we take to listen and to learn about their objectives and concerns. This approach reflects our commitment to providing truly patient-centered orthopedic treatment and care.

It is a highly personalized approach based on our belief in the importance of patient education that matches the nature of the injury and its treatment with the patient’s own objectives.

Our doctors have more than 40-years experience in orthopedics and sports medicine; all our physicians are board certified with additional specialty training in sports medicine, hand surgery, or pain management. Our dedicated physical therapy and athletic training staff consistently receives high marks from our patients.

Empathy and Understanding

We all know that referral to an orthopedic practice can cause anxiety and uncertainty. Injury is also likely to be a serious interruption in a patient’s routine, whether that is training for competition, weekly recreation or the simple routines of daily life.

That is why we always seek to apply least invasive, non-surgical solutions where possible, an important quality for patients, even those most insistent in getting back to normal. When surgery is required (necessary for only one in eighteen patients we see), the personal approach we establish at the outset with each patient defines the whole experience with our practice through rehabilitation.
Continuity of Care

Your patient’s experience here at Maryland Orthopedic Specialists will be part of a well-organized process that your patient understands what will happen, how they participate, and all of parts of the practice they will touch while being served. Central to this care is keeping you as the referring physician up to date on all treatments, outcomes and any physical therapy required.

Our Commitment

Our practice is sized to provide the kind of personal attention and communications that patients increasingly demand and appreciate. We make sure this happens with leading edge, full service orthopedic service, including x-rays and our highly regarded physical therapy practice.
