in an elegant gown by Nicole Miller, and Meredith Schott, the daughter of Christine Ledes and Steve Schott, wearing a tiara by Jordan Fine and a heavenly confection by Maggie Norris. Also taking her bow was Austria's Archduchess Isabella von Habsburg-Lorraine. She wore a diamond tiara that had been handed down through the generations. She confessed, "I've never worn a tiara, but I'm excited to be doing it tonight. I'm happy to help create this cultural bridge between America and Vienna and raise money for the music therapy program at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center." Escorts included Prince Michael de Habsbourg-Lorraine and Ryan Thomas Roth, the son of the cosmetics mogul Peter Thomas Roth. Guests included Archduke Géza and Archduchess Elizabeth von Habsburg-Lorraine of Austria, Sylvia Prieser, Daniel Serafin, Jean Shaffroff, and Metropolitan Opera stars René Pape and Eva-Maria Westbroek. Picasso at Galerie Gmurzynska

Pablo Picasso's granddaughter Diana Picasso debuted her MEN — gold jewelry collection at Galerie Gmurzynska, owned by her friend Isabelle Bscher. Picasso, an art historian, said: "I was inspired by the timeless designs of the Romans, the Greeks, and the Egyptians; I love working with gold, a material that has been used for millennia." Picasso, the mother of baby Luna, would like to see her timeless pieces passed from mother to daughter. "To have something that has been touched by different generations is a spiritual experience." gmurzynska.com Guests included the model and co-founder Anja Rubik, who posed in some of the edgy bracelets, necklaces, earrings, and rings. mene.com

Art Miami

Metallica's Jason Newsted swiped spray paint from Mr. Brainwash's booth to complete a giant mural he was painting on the side of the Art Miami Pavilion with former Jean-Michel Basquiat collaborators Al Diaz and Danny Minnick. Newsted ran out of paint three quarters through painting the mural titled Birds of a Feather. Newsted was desperate to find more paint and when he realized his booth was next to Mr. Brainwash's, he peeked behind and found a bag full of spray paints, which he liberated. Art lovers in Miami included Leonardo DiCaprio, Owen Wilson, Paris Hilton, Rosario Dawson, Amare Stoudemire, and Frank Ocean.

Race to Judgment

The art patron Dianne B. Bernhard hosted a book party for Raw to Judgment, Judge Frederic Block's new novel, at the 21 Club. Block knows Brooklyn's darkest secrets and writes from his first-hand knowledge of the gritty world of the borough's criminal justice system. The critically acclaimed novel is being scripted into a series. fredericblock.com
